2. [REDACTED] was in to see me about the movement of the Office of Research and Development, DD/S&T from the Headquarters building to the Rosslyn complex. He asked that a decision on this move be suspended for sixty days. I agreed and set 15 September as the deadline. This delay is predicated on the current negotiations for the settlement of the NRO problem, which will have a definite effect on the total structure of DD/S&T. It would be inopportune to announce a decision on the move at this time in the face of these negotiations, and the space in Rosslyn can be pending during this period.

3. I met with [REDACTED] concerning the new look for the DD/S suite of rooms. We discussed furniture, colors, etc. I asked that a sketch be prepared substituting a table for my desk and placing a telephone console on the lefthand side of the table, changing the chairs and other furniture, removing the heavy furniture, and changing the table and chairs in the Conference Room. I am going toward contemporary--but not the extreme. It was discussed that the gold rug in this office should be changed to the traditional gray, and this might be possible if the new Rosslyn buildings can use this carpeting. I should receive the sketch for further consideration in the next several months. Alan Warfield wishes to keep the traditional furniture.
